Dereliction Is Indicated— Unsavory Mess of Facts.

A committee of three-Ovid B. Jameson, Harry W. Bennett and Charles E. Coffinrepresenting the Republican city committee, in conducting an investigation of the official record of John W. Holtzman, Democratic candidate for mayor, has made pub-lie its findings. This committee, some days ago, notified the Citizens' League that it had made such an investigation, but preferred to give the league the opportunity to perform the publle duty of acquainting the voters of Indianapolis with the facts as to Mr. Holtzman's record as prosecuting attorney. The league, by way of reply, said it had made | long-distance run ever made on the Monon, an investigation of all the candidates on all | and the special cost $500. of the tickets, but was not ready to make public its findings.

The inference drawn by the Republican committee was that the league proposed to delay its report until the eve of the election and would then indorse the Demoeratic ticket from Holtzman down. Consequently Messrs. Jameson, Bennet and Cofin decided to publish the fruits of their investigation at once.

Holtzman's Record. Their report is as follows:

"Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 25, 1903.
"To the Voters of the City of Indianapolis. "No apology and little explanation should ng to you the subbe necessary in pre fect matter of the the record in public o. Holtzman, the Democrat. / candidate for

"In the present city campaign there has been an evident effort on the part of the Democrats to get away from the record of in public office. With the former the Re- text, publican party has nothing to do, although it is of some interest to voters of various shades of political opinion. As to the other, however, it becomes the duty of the Republican city committee to present the facts as they have been found by a special committee appointed to make this investiga-

any excuse was needed for the making of this investigation it might be Holtzman's record during the time of his service as prosecuting attorney for this judicial circuit as the following from the Indianapolis News of Oct. 24, 1902, when he was a candidate for re-election:

"It has been charged against Mr. Holtzman that he has been too lenient with saloon keepers and gamblers, and the record of his court shows this class of offenders have been almost free from prosecution.' "Or, it might be found in the remarka-ble assertion of the Ridpath-Martindale coterie of party traitors, now posing as 'independent Republicans' and openly advocating the election of the Democratic candidate, that 'He is so far separated from MOB INVADES A JAIL AFTER the lawless and victous elements in the city that they cannot control him if

"Between statements so diverse the voter may well pause, and ask for the facts. "If the Indianapolis News told the truth in 1892 the hypocrisy of its present support of Mr. Holtzman in a campaign in which it has endeavored to confuse the voter by proclaiming enforcement of gambling and excise laws to be the leading issue, is at once apparent. THE LEAGUE'S ALLIES.

"There is ample reason to believe that the little club of seven highly virtuous gentlemen calling themselves the 'Citizens' League of Indianapolis' has been in close alliance, from the first, with the enemies of the Republican organization, in the scheme to make this false issue the predominating one of the campaign. Masquerading under the guise of non-partisanship, some of them have persistently and viciously attacked the present city administration. and at least one of them entered into a conspiracy with the Indianapolis News against a member of the administration. Yet this league, convicted already in the minds of a great majority of our citizens of indirection, disingenuousness and insincerity, still poses as the custodian of the conscience of the community, and with amazing presumption bids the voter wait until the campaign has reached the eve of election, whereupon qualifications of all candidates, and tell the voters what to do.

"Although it has been a foregone conclusion that the league would use its imagined back into power in this city, this co:nmittee before presenting the report of its investigations, decided to place the league in its true light before the people, by giving it an opportunity to say whether it would make a fair and impartial report upon the record of Mr. Holtzman, and present the same to the public in ample time for discussion thereof. "Replying to a letter of this committee, the Citizens' League said: 'The executive committee of the Citizens' League is now making a careful investigation of the record and qualifications of all candidates for ace at the approaching city election, more than fifty in all, on the above-named tickets. including the record of John W. Holtzman. When these investigations are completed we will submit to the public our report."

PUBLIC ENTITLED TO TRUTH. "The secretary of the league has been quoted in Mr. Holtzman's organ as saving Saturday before election. This interview has not been denied. There is no reason why the report on Mr. Holtzman should be delayed until that time. The Holtzman record is already a subject of earnest discussion among the voters, and if the Citizens' League has any light to throw upon the subject, the public is entitled to have LYNCHBURG, Tenn.; Sept. 25 .- Sheriff George R. Davidson, in attempting to save the life of a negro early this morning, fired nto a mob which was assailing the jail, wounding a man whose name is unknown. The sheriff summoned assistance, but he and his aids were overpowered, the jail entered and the much-wanted negro, Allen Small, shot to death in the corridor.

The mob was composed of about twentyfive people. Sheriff Davidson was alone at the time. He refused to give up the keys and opened fire from a window. He wounded one of the mob, but the victim's identity is not known. The sheriff then called for the police. Two officers and several citizens rushed to the jail, but, despite their presence, the mob battered down the wooden door at the foot of the stairs leading to the corridor. The sheriff and posse made a tout resistance, but were unable to prevent the mob from breaking in the iron door at the said league will deliver a flat as to the the head of the stairs and entering the cell occupied by the negro, about whose neck

As soon as the men emerged from the cell it became apparent that the negro could not be taken from the jail and hanged for fear of being fired on, and he was shot to death. The mob then made an effort to escape, but the sheriff and his guard captured three of them, and they are in jail. One of them, it is said, has made a confession, implicating thirteen men in the affair. Small was under arrest on the charge of assaulting Mrs. Eliza Eggleston, and on his preliminary hearing the warrant was amended so as to charge a simple case of assault. The negro had waived examination and was awaiting the action of the grand jury.

OVERSTREET AND BOOKWALTER ADDRESS A LARGE CROWD.

HIS APPEAL FOR FAIR PLAY

IMPORTANCE OF CONTEST ON STATE POLITICS EMPHASIZED.

The Mayor Warmly Greeted by th Crowd and Speaks from the Shoulder-Reception Held.

The Republican campaign tent was pitched last night at the corner of College avenue and Nineteenth street, and citizens of the Second ward were given some straight-fromthe-chest talk by Representative Jesse Overstreet and Mayor Bookwalter.

Fully four hundred people rallied about the platform, and the most enthusiastic meeting the Republicans have yet held in his wife, and with strange faces to greet the present campaign was held. Throughout the speeches of both Mr. Overstreet and Mayor Bookwalter there was continuous applause by the crowd, which seemed to be in perfect sympathy with the speakers. Despite the fact that Democratic leaders boast the Republicans will lose forty votes in every ward north of the monument, it is safe to say, judging from the meeting last night, that the Second ward will be one exception, at least. From the expression heard among the crowd one would never have known there was a Democratic voter in the ward. Mayor Bookwalter was interrupted in his speech not less than twenty times by applause and spontaneous expressions of indorsement of his statements. At the close of his speech some one shouted, "What's the matter with Bookwalter?" and the hearty response of "He's all right!" seemed to come from every throat.

OVERSTREET SPEAKS. sided over the meeting. Representative | Sept. 14. Overstreet was introduced first, and he spoke in no unmistakable manner. The crowd cheered lustily when he arose. He began by showing the conditions that prevailed in the city during Mayor Denny's administration, and later during Mayor Taggart's three terms. Mayor Denny's administration, he said, was a good one and it could not be denied, but Mayor Taggart left the city in a deplorable condition, which Mayor Bookwalter has had to remedy and which he has remedied to the best of any man's ability. But he said it was not necessary to count the dollars saved by Bookwalter. If he started with a sunken treasury and has been able to pay as he goes he must necessarily have departed from the business methods of his predecessor. "And." he continued, "Mayor Bookwalter has changed the methods that were in use during his preceding administration. He has stamped out the bad practice of temporary loans and can point to improved conditions in business affairs. But our opponents are wont to cloud the success of his administration by an exaggeration of the lack of enforcement of law, Bethat the administration is in sympathy with lawbreakers. I do not claim that violators of the law are all punished, but I do submit to your fair judgment and knowledge whether or not in a city of this size and developing with its rapidity, it isn't a far difficult thing to enforce all the laws fy any citizen or anybody to point to a city | the Tsulbranes and to relieve Taza. with a population of 200,000 in which the maximum punishment for the violation of the law is higher or greater in degree than so of every great, rapidly growing city The growth of rapidly developing cities, Brought Against Election Judges in you all know, is faster than the fire department, faster than the extension of the water mains, faster than the police department. > Indiana Wholesale Grocers' Company Is Organized with Capital Stock of $5,000,000.

> NO BIG INCREASE IN PRICES

EXISTING EVILS IN BUSINESS.

Details of Organization Will Be Completed at a Meeting in This City Oct. S.

Representatives of twelve Indiana firms engaged in the wholesale grocery business met yesterday morning at the Claypool Hotel to complete the organization of a trust or combination to be known as the Indiana Wholesale Grocers' Company. The deal was not perfected, but arrangements were concluded such that the matter will be closed at a meeting to be held Thursday, Oct. 8, at the same place.

The promoters are reticent as to their plans at present, but it is learned that two Indianapolis firms will be merged into the new combination, which will be capitalized and incorporated for $5,000,000. Temporary officers were elected yesterday, but their names were not made public as permanent officers are to be elected at the next meeting. N. M. The Indiana firms in the deal represent a buying power of $10 .-000,000 annually, it is said.

OBJECTS OF THE COMBINATION. The objects of the combination, it is said, are to maintain prices, correct existing evils in the wholesale grocery business and, by concentrating the buying power, secure stock at lower figures than now paid by the firms purchasing independently. There is to be no fight between the trust and the independents, it is claimed, and as the trust in Indiana will include but twelve firms out of a total of ninety-five or 100 it is not regarded as probable that the deal means concerted marked increase in prices to the retailers. C. L. Dietz, a merchandise broker of this city, who has been active in the organization of the combination, said last night that the details of the organization will not be made public until the new corporation has been perfected. At that time the officers, merged companies, etc., will be made known to the public. Mr. Dietz stated that the men who are promoting the combination will go direct to New York from this city and expect to perfect an organization there within a last night. The second matinee of the show was given yesterday afternoon That the show just closed was a thoroughly good exhibit, and that Indianapolis has made a long stride in the horse show business since last year, no one doubts. The attendance this week was good and it is thought the Indianapolis herse show is now a permanent institution. The show was a finaucial success. Several days ago George W. Bliss, president of the Horse Show Association, announced that every indication pointed to financial success for the show. Monday night's crowd was somewhat of a disappointment to the managers of the show, but every night since the opening performance the attendance has been larger. The attendance at the bride made strenuous objections, claiming matinees, too, has been good. It is thought that the girl about to be married was under that fully 15,000 people saw the show during the seven performances.
